FAMILY BIBLE EXPLORATION

Share these points as you study Jeremiah and Romans together as a family:

- Jeremiah, prophet of hope. Jeremiah was not popular for his messages from God, but not everything Jeremiah preached was disastrous. Many chapters included in the Book of Jeremiah preach a message of hope for a future Savior. Jeremiah told the people of Judah that very soon they would be captured and taken into captivity, but God would remember them and one day bring them back to their land. Ultimately God would send the Messiah to bring salvation to the people and usher in a new covenant for the people. The people looked forward to God's fulfillment of this promise.
- The ultimate king. Jeremiah shared with the people that while the human king was flawed and imperfect, the king God would one day send would be perfect, unblemished, and true. When that new king came, the people would no longer be in bondage to Babylon—the city that would soon invade Judah—or to sin.
- Who is the Messiah? Jeremiah identified the qualities of the Messiah so that when He came, the people would be able to recognize Him. The Messiah was going to be a Jew, one of God's own people. The Messiah would come from a small family but would possess the qualities of a priest. Unlike earthly priests however, the Messiah would have direct access to God. Through Messiah's sacrifice people would have direct access to God.
- Jesus, Messiah. Jesus was born to a small family from Nazareth. Early in His life, He stayed at the temple to talk with the priests. While Jesus completely fulfilled the prophecies of Jeremiah, the people still did not recognize Him. When Jesus died on the cross, the veil in the temple was ripped in two, giving people direct access to God. Paul taught the Romans that because of Jesus' sacrifice on the cross, people now had the opportunity to receive forgiveness of their sin without offering a sacrifice in the temple. Paul said that anyone who accepted the gospel by faith would be justified before God through Jesus.
